Women's Fine Art in Numerous Subjects & Mediums . . . Across the United States

Karen Kallmann

Karen Kallmann has developed her own style of painting by combining her talent with many years of formal training. She has participated in museum studies in Europe and Russia. Her work has been shown in such varied places as the Ronald Reagan Museum, the Stamford Historical Society Museum in Connecticut and the Musee d'Art Moderne, Tonniens, France.

Painting with force and imagination, she brings a timeless beauty to her creations. Years of academic studies in optometry, anatomy, and physiology benefit her work by providing insights into how the eye perceives color, style, shape, and patterns. Vibrant images emerge as she combines state of the art technique with her own vision.

Karen has a light-hearted approach to her work that celebrates our life and times. She exhibits a genius and charm in creating masterpieces from everyday and not so everyday images. She has won numerous awards and her work is displayed in collections around the world.
